ORANGE COUNTY TO LAUNCH NEW WEBSITE

Orange County, VA - Orange County will launch its new website on May 31, 2013. The new site will address many of the Board of Supervisors' priorities for enhanced communication efforts with County citizens. It will provide new features, such as a "notify me" function, as well as an alert center and a citizen input section.

One of the Board of Supervisors' guiding principles for its Vision for 2022 is Effective, Reflective Government. This principle has defined the County's development of its Communication Plan adopted in December, 2012, and the approach used to develop the new site. The fresh organization of the redesigned site will feature pages that provide easy access to the Board's agendas and minutes, recordings of Board meetings, a staff directory, and direct access to current County news, a calendar of events, job opportunities, and bid postings.

Board of Supervisors Chairman S. Teel Goodwin stated, "The new site supports our goal of Effective, Reflective Government and supports our Vision for 2022. We are hopeful that the new site will provide ease of navigation for citizens and quick online access to aid in our efforts to be transparent in our work."
